

Poisoned Children Recover

Elizabeth Adolphsen, aged 7 years, and Robert Adolphsen, aged 11 years, of Maidstone street, Ringwood, who suffered from food poisoning after they and other members of their family had eaten steak and kidney pie in the week-end, were discharged from the Children's Hospital yesterday. Frederick Adolphsen, aged 10 years, who was treated at his home, has recovered. A bacteriological examination is being made of the meat in the pie by the Government analyst (Mr. C. A. Taylor).
